

Mark Rankin and John N. King collaborated on the design of this seminar, prior to his death on June 13, 2020. Although he cannot participate in the seminar, his long-term engagement with the literary, intellectual, and cultural history of the Renaissance and Reformation have shaped its intellectual program. For information about his publications related to this program, see the seminar bibliography.